Compare the form first, then read the explanation and name the rule in your own words.

F1

I would like a coffee, please. I would like to reserve a table. Would you like some water? We would like to order now. I would not like to sit outside. Would she like to join us? I like coffee every day. I would like a coffee now. I check the subject and verb first. I also check the meaning and position of every target form.

The mission integrates form, meaning, question structure and self-correction.

F2

I would like a coffee, please. A desired thing follows would like directly. I would like to reserve a table. An action uses to + base verb.

The audit makes the learner connect a produced form with its controlling decision.
