ENGLISH B2 · ADVANCED GRAMMAR

Causative have and get

Use have or get something done for arranged services and have or get someone to act for personal causation. The lesson connects form, meaning, register and real editorial decisions rather than treating the pattern as an isolated rule.

THE CENTRAL IDEA

Use causative have and get to show that the subject arranges, persuades or experiences an action rather than performing it directly while preserving the intended meaning and register.

Use have or get something done for arranged services and have or get someone to act for personal causation.

MODEL

We had the contract reviewed before signing it.

have/get + object + participle | have + person + base | get + person + to-infinitive

6 GUIDED STAGES · 30 LEARNING DECISIONS

This complete guide combines explanation, visual reasoning, practice and feedback. Separate exercise and answer-key editions are also available from the lesson page.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Outcome 1 Recognise the main causative have and get patterns in authentic contexts.	Outcome 2 Choose a form that accurately expresses show that the subject arranges, persuades or experiences an action rather than performing it directly.
Outcome 3 Avoid errors that change time, agency, emphasis or speaker commitment.	Outcome 4 Use the structure appropriately in services, project coordination, everyday arrangements and incident description.

Build meaning before form

Use have or get something done for arranged services and have or get someone to act for personal causation.

What causative have and get communicates

Use have or get something done for arranged services and have or get someone to act for personal causation.

The central purpose is to show that the subject arranges, persuades or experiences an action rather than performing it directly. A successful choice therefore preserves the proposition while making the intended relationship, viewpoint or degree of commitment visible to the reader.

We had the contract reviewed before signing it.	an action arranged for another person to perform
She got the supplier to replace the damaged units.	successfully persuading or arranging for a person to act
He had his laptop stolen on the train.	an event experienced by the subject, often unwillingly

How the pattern is built

Use this working formula: have/get + object + participle | have + person + base | get + person + to-infinitive. The formula is a decision path: it identifies the trigger, the clause architecture and the element that carries tense or modality.

The model “We had the contract reviewed before signing it.” shows the complete pattern in context. Rebuild the sentence from meaning to form instead of translating each word independently.

Choice	Structure	Example
Arranged service	have + object + past participle	We had the contract reviewed before signing it.
Persuaded action	get + person + to-infinitive	She got the supplier to replace the damaged units.
Unwanted experience	have + object + participle	He had his laptop stolen on the train.

Choose by meaning, not by surface similarity

Neighbouring structures may contain similar words but perform different jobs. Compare the three reference patterns and name the intended effect before completing the sentence.

A reliable answer explains both why the chosen form works and why a plausible alternative would change the meaning, time relation, information focus or level of certainty.

Meaning	Best route
an action arranged for another person to perform	Arranged service
successfully persuading or arranging for a person to act	Persuaded action
an event experienced by the subject, often unwillingly	Unwanted experience

Register, discourse and editorial control

This grammar is especially useful in services, project coordination, everyday arrangements and incident description. Its value comes from helping the reader process a relationship efficiently, not from making the sentence sound artificially complex.

After editing, check recoverability, natural word order and consistency with the surrounding paragraph. If the marked structure creates ambiguity, return to a fuller or more neutral clause.

Reason through the pattern

The visual map moves from communicative purpose to structural trigger, then to the final clause. It keeps meaning and form visible at the same time so the learner can justify every choice.

DECIDE IN THIS ORDER

Decision 1

Identify the communicative purpose before selecting a form: show that the subject arranges, persuades or experiences an action rather than performing it directly.

STEP 2

Decision 2

Locate the structural trigger and match it to one of the reference patterns.

STEP 3

Decision 3

Check time reference, clause relationships, agency and speaker commitment.

STEP 4

Decision 4

Read the complete sentence in context and confirm that its register suits services, project coordination, everyday arrangements and incident description.

STEP 5

Decision 5

Compare the result with a neutral alternative and keep the marked form only when it adds useful meaning.

Compare forms and meanings

Use the table to justify each structural choice.

Pattern	Form	Model
Arranged service	have + object + past participle	We had the contract reviewed before signing it.
Persuaded action	get + person + to-infinitive	She got the supplier to replace the damaged units.
Unwanted experience	have + object + participle	He had his laptop stolen on the train.

EXAMPLES AT A GLANCE

We had the contract reviewed before signing it.	an action arranged for another person to perform
She got the supplier to replace the damaged units.	successfully persuading or arranging for a person to act
He had his laptop stolen on the train.	an event experienced by the subject, often unwillingly
