Sustantivos contables e incontables en inglés A1

En inglés, los sustantivos se dividen en contables (puedes contar: 1 book, 2 books) e incontables (no puedes contar: water, money, music). Esta distinción determina si usas much o many, y cómo formas el plural.

META DE LA LECCIÓN

Usar some/any y much/many correctamente según si el sustantivo es contable o incontable.

MODELO

I have some books. / I don't have any money. / How many students? / How much water?

Al terminar podrás

1. Distinguir sustantivos contables (book, student) de incontables (water, money).
2. Usar many con contables y much con incontables.
3. Usar some (afirmativa) y any (negativa/pregunta) con ambos tipos.

01 · COMPRENDER

La idea esencial

Aprende la diferencia entre sustantivos contables e incontables en inglés A1. Usa some/any y much/many correctamente para hablar de cantidades.

Contables e incontables en inglés: qué son y por qué importan

En inglés, todos los sustantivos son o contables (countable) o incontables (uncountable). Los contables son cosas que puedes contar una por una: a student, two students, three books. Los incontables son cosas que no tienen unidades individuales: water, money, music, information, advice.

Esta distinción determina cómo usas los determinantes: puedes decir "a book" pero no "a water"; "many students" pero no "many money"; "much water" pero no "much books". En A1 es fundamental porque afecta a las frases más cotidianas.

Some y any: cuándo usarlos

Some se usa en oraciones afirmativas con ambos tipos de sustantivos: I have some books. / I need some water. Any se usa en oraciones negativas y preguntas: I don't have any books. / Do you have any water? / I don't have any money.

Una excepción: en preguntas donde se ofrece algo o se espera respuesta afirmativa, se puede usar some: Would you like some water? / Can I have some help? En A1, la regla general (some = afirmativa, any = negativa/pregunta) es suficiente.

Much vs many: la regla de los cuantificadores

Many va con sustantivos contables en plural: many students, many books, many questions, many days. Much va con sustantivos incontables: much water, much money, much time, much information. En oraciones afirmativas se prefiere "a lot of" en lugar de much/many: I have a lot of books / I have a lot of money.

Much y many son más frecuentes en preguntas y negativas: How much money? / How many students? / I don't have much time. / I don't have many friends. En A1 practica las preguntas con How much? y How many? — son las más útiles.

¿Cuál es la diferencia entre nombres contables e incontables en inglés?

Los contables se pueden contar y tienen plural (one apple, two apples). Los incontables no se cuentan ni tienen plural (water, money, information, advice). Trampa: varios que en español son contables, en inglés son incontables ("advice", "furniture", "news", "bread").

¿Cuándo se usa "some" y cuándo "any"?

"some" en frases afirmativas ("I have some money", "There are some apples"); "any" en negativas e interrogativas ("I don't have any money", "Are there any apples?"). Ambos se usan con incontables y con plurales contables.

¿Cuándo se usa "much" y cuándo "many"?

"much" con incontables ("How much money?", "not much time"); "many" con contables en plural ("How many books?", "not many people"). En frases afirmativas se prefiere "a lot of" para ambos: "a lot of money", "a lot of friends".

FÓRMULA

Contable: a/an, plural -s, many, some/any | Incontable: no artículo, no plural, much, some/any

Decide en este orden

1. Contable: puedes contarlos a book, two books, many books, some books.
2. Incontable: no puedes contarlos water (no "a water"), much water, some water.
3. some + afirmativa con ambos: some books / some water.
4. any + negativa/pregunta con ambos: any books? / any water?
5. NUNCA: "many water" o "much books" — many con contable, much con incontable.

	Contable (book, student)	Incontable (water, money)
Singular	a book / the book	water / the water
Plural / cantidad	books / many books	— / much water
Afirmativa	some books	some water
Negativa / pregunta	any books?	any water?

Errores frecuentes

× "many water" much water — water es incontable, usa much.

× "much students" many students — students es contable, usa many.

× "an information" information (no artículo) — information es incontable.
